Urbino electric ventures out of town

- Transcends city borders

The range of up to a few hundred kilometres on a single charge and flexible equipment options characteristic for the low-entry bus will allow to adjust the bus to the challenging needs of urban traffic as well as suburban routes.
- Guarantees new experience of comfort

The most novel, environmentally friendly solutions, a distinctive design coupled with a luxurious, beautiful interior – together, these make for an ideal bus.
- Completes the electric portfolio

Today, the Urbino electric family is a whole spectrum of models, which means that Solaris offers the ideal combination of various length, drive type and specification variants of buses.
- Marks a new phase in our development

It is a bus we have created considering only electric drivelines, by using the experience of a few hundred battery vehicles in use. We prove that electric means not only quiet and zero-emission, but also fully reliable.
